Bluewater Energy Solutions Successfully Completes Major Milestone on Multiple Project Sites.

Projects located in Dorchester & Allendale, SC have completed a major project milestone with the successful first fire of the boiler.

Bluewater Energy Solutions would like to thank our project teams for their hard work, dedication and safety first attitude to achieve this milestone.

"First fire is a major milestone for these projects and signifies a shift from construction to a project focused on commercial operation," said Perry Novak, President of Bluewater Energy Solutions, which provides technical services within the power generation sector. "There have been many talented and dedicated people who have worked significant manhours to get to this point. This sets the stage for successful project completion."
